

GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY II (PUM 223)

Course Objectives:

This is a broad course, covering most of the major topic areas in psychology, learning, memory and cognition, intelligence, social interaction, motivation, emotion, stress, social perception, social influence and social relationship and also attitudes on human beings. The purpose of this course is to increase the student's understanding and tolerance of other people's behavior.

Topics:

1. Learning principles :
 - Classical conditioning
 - Operant conditioning
2. Memory :
 - STM & LTM
 - Forgetting and memory improvement
3. Cognition, language and intelligence
4. Motivation
5. Emotion
6. Aggression
7. Gender & sexuality
8. Stress & health
9. Social perception, social influence and social relationship
10. Attitude (definition and attitude theories)
11. Attitude change

References :

1. Lahey, B.B. 2005. Psychology: An Introduction. 9th. New York : McGraw-Hill
2. Irwanto , Elia, H., Hadisoepadma, A., Priyani, R. Wismanto, YB., Frenandes, C. (1994). Psikologi umum. Buku panduan mahasiswa. Jakarta: PT. Gramedia
3. Baron, R.A. 2001. Psychology. 5th edition. Allyn and Bacon. Boston